

Submitted by Jody Fagan, Editor, January 5, 2009

“How To” Article Review Criteria for the *Journal of Web Librarianship

Manuscript Title:

Below are some criteria to guide your review. Feel free to write comments on this form. Comments may be shared anonymously with authors.

- Is the topic of the article relevant to researchers and/or practitioners of web librarianship?
- Is the content of the article useful to researchers and/or practitioners of web librarianship?
- Is the article organized and well-written?
- Were the instructions provided in the article clear and easy to follow?
- Has the author cited his/her sources completely and accurately?
  - Does the author provide other resources for learning more?
- Did you enjoy reading this article?
- Other Comments?

Please assign the article to one of the following categories:

- Acceptable with few or no editorial revisions.
- Acceptable but requires some rewriting by the author.
- Not acceptable in its present condition, but author should be encouraged to revise and resubmit.
- Does not warrant further consideration by the Journal of Web Librarianship